

ANNE RUST PEARSON

A native of Virginia, Anne has been involved in the arts throughout her life and career. She paints in oil and focuses her skills on wildlife and landscape themes. An outdoor enthusiast, Anne studied and built a career in the field of Environmental Science, consistently working in conservation education, park management and historic preservation. Her approach to depicting the natural world focuses on a realistic interpretation, capturing her subjects as they appear in real life.

Anne has shown and sold her work in a variety of juried shows to include Art at the Mill, the Bluemont Art Show, Waterford, Clifton Day and other local venues. Her work is also shown at The Island Gallery in the Outer Banks. She has honed her skills while learning and painting with local artist, John Young, and most recently, with Paul Hennesy of Clifton, Virginia. She has been a member of the Clifton Art Guild and enjoys traveling and hiking in pursuit of subject material for her painting. Anne and her family reside in Fairfax Station, and participate in equestrian activities and outdoor adventures with their horses and family dog.
